

LOCAL NEWS.

FRIDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 11.

For this section fall till Sunday, slightly warmer, southwesterly winds.

REPUBLICAN MEETING.—The first public speaking of the campaign in this city by the republicans took place at the Opera House last night. The meeting was addressed by Capt. W. S. Lurty, republican candidate for Attorney General, and Mr. Edmund Burke, of this city.

The meeting was not largely attended and the majority of the audience were colored men. A number of democrats were in attendance, attracted by curiosity to see and hear the republican candidate for Attorney General. The meeting was slow through out and the speeches stale and uninteresting. It was some time after the appointed hour before Mr. L. W. Corbett called the meeting to order and introduced Mr. Lurty, the wait being caused by the slowness of the "leaders" to take seats on the stage. Those who finally graced the occasion were Messrs. J. H. Greene, D. A. Windsor and Jos. Crupper. Mr. Lurty's speech was disappointing to every one in the hall. It was laudatory of himself, demagogical and generally tiresome. He said the republican was the broad and liberal party, which had performed every promise it had ever made and protected the working man, while the democratic party was responsible for all that was bad in the past and which he feared would be worse in the future. He spoke constantly of "Boss Barbour," sometimes without any connection; read numerous extracts from Jefferson's inaugural addresses, and read them very indifferently; blamed the democratic party for the scandals that had occurred at the asylums; for misappropriation of school moneys and for reckless expenditures of moneys for State expenses. During his speech he did not advance a single original idea, and the only subject that had not been repeatedly discussed before was his statement that if Mr. Massey could do as he wanted—that is, only appropriate the money paid by the colored people in taxes to the support of the colored schools, then it would soon follow that the only money appropriated for the support of the public schools for poor white children would be that paid by the poor white men—but he admitted that the State constitution would not admit of such a thing. He praised Gen. Mahone, but said if anyone had anything against the General he, Lurty, had nothing to do with that for this election was one of principle, not men. He thought too much was being said about the race question, but said that if that ever was the issue he would be found with the whites. Once, while he was criticizing some democratic legislation of several years back, he was asked by a colored man in the audience if he was not a democrat at that time, but made no reply. The only two anecdotes he related had been heard from the same stage a dozen times before—from both democratic and republican speakers—and his speech certainly created no enthusiasm.

Much of the speech was devoted to an account of a Virginia girl who had gone out to the republican State of Ohio, where she is now getting $8 a month for cooking in a gentleman's family—for which work she formerly got 75 cents a week at her mountain home. He wanted Virginia to go republican so that all cooks could get $8 per month. Mr. Lurty, it was said, was quite indisposed with a severe cold, and his friends stated that he was not at his best. His speech was certainly not a strong or a good one and was most disconnected.

When Mr. Lurty concluded Mr. Edmund Burke was introduced and spoke for upward of an hour.

PERSONAL.—The New York Star says: Another influential delegate to the Episcopal convention is Rev. Kinloch Nelson of Virginia, who is a typical representative of his State. He has a marked southern accent, and calls "for," "foah."

The Lexington Gazette says: "Mrs. Gov. Fitzhugh Lee is here, as we hear, for the purpose of selecting a residence, if one can be found, for the family to occupy after General Lee's term as Governor expires, January 1st, 1890, for a year at least, until a suitable residence can be built at Glasgow. General Lee will, as president of the Rockbridge Company, reside here with his family after which he will permanently locate in the new town in a mansion specially built for him. From this it would seem that the General has given up all idea of accepting the superintendency of the Virginia Military Institute as General F. H. Smith's successor, a fact to be greatly regretted. It has since been learned that Governor Lee has rented the residence of Hon. John Randolph Tucker, in Lexington, and it is understood the family will locate here the 1st of December. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker will board this winter."

Ex Senator R. E. Withers, who has been here in attendance upon the Knights Templar convocation, leaves to-night for his home in Wetherville.

Dr. E. H. Marsteller, surgeon U. S. Navy, who was left at Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, suffering from pneumonia, having recovered his health sailed from that port Sept. 27th to join his ship, the Adams, at Samoa.

Mr. Harry Achenbach, Millard Saxton, and Doyle Marks, of the Fisk military band, of Williamsport, Pa., were in the city yesterday sight seeing and returned home to day well pleased with their first visit to Virginia.

Miss Bryd n. of Frederick, Md., is on a visit to Miss Hendrickson.

Mrs. Paul Hendrickson, of St. Paul, is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. D. Walton Balenger and Miss Jessie Moore, both of Fairfax county, were married yesterday.

Mr. Geo. K. Witmer is in the city on a short visit.

THE BOULEVARD SCHEME.—It will be remembered that a scheme is on foot to run a boulevard 100 feet or more in width from Washington to Mount Vernon, on the Virginia side of the river. It is thought that the right of way could be acquired with little or no attending cost, and that on such a grand way, between the national capital and the tomb of Washington, there would spring up rapidly many beautiful villas. There is no doubt that as time goes on there will be increased demand for facilities to reach Mount Vernon. At present there is but a single steamer on the river route which is privileged to land passengers on the estate. To meet the demands of the present pilgrimages the Mount Vernon Association has arranged with four or five other river boats, but even this enlarged fleet is inadequate to the demand, and on all the steamers there is a crush and much inconvenience. Those who hired carriages and gave the day to the trip did better than those who took the crowded steamboats. If the Mount Vernon avenue is ever constructed the pilgrimage could be varied, and made one half a water trip and the other half a delightful drive. The distance from Washington City is sixteen miles, and from Alexandria ten miles. If Washington City is to have the world's fair in 1892 the Mount Vernon boulevard ought to be one of the very first accessories cared for and conducted by the general government or otherwise. The scheme, too, should be considered in connection with some monumental or ornamental bridge across the historic river which flows past the national capital and the home and resting place of the founder of the city.

THE THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.—The sixteenth session of the Theological Seminary opened September 25th, with a larger number of men than at any time since the war. There are there fifty-seven men, thirty-eight of these being in the seminary and nineteen in the preparatory department with a prospect of more. As stated in the GAZETTE there have been many improvements made in and around the buildings during the past summer. Aspiwall Hall has been put in thorough repair by the Rev. J. A. Aspiwall and sisters, of Washington. The rooms in this building have been painted and papered, shades have been put over the windows and new locks on the doors, the halls and lecture rooms have been well-scrubbed and the walls kalsomined, and a new floor laid on the porch. Prayer Hall and the Reading Room are being fixed up in the same manner. Bohlen Hall has also been repaired to some extent by the trustees. The grounds have been cleaned off and the drive-ways and walks covered with gravel. A house for Professor Grammer is being erected just inside the High School grounds at a cost of several thousand dollars. The Southern Churchman says: "The ladies of the Hill, with Mr. Carter, a member of the middle class, at their head, are building a hall with a seating capacity of two hundred, for missionary meetings, Sunday school purposes, lectures, etc. It will be called the Whittle Hall, and will be a great addition to the seminary, as at present there is no building suitable for such meetings. There is a prospect of a new library building in the near future; the money for the erection of which will be given by a friend at the North. The books of the library have been rearranged during the summer, and the 2,700 volumes given to the seminary by the Rev. W. B. Colburn have been put in. An attempt is being made to secure a spring which will furnish a sufficient supply of good water, in which event water will be pumped to the seminary by a hydraulic ram."

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A fatal shooting accident occurred at Rock Point, Charles co., Md., on Monday, resulting in the immediate death of Mr. E. Augustus Richmond, a merchant and well-known citizen of that vicinity. Mr. Richmond, in company with his brother-in-law, Dr. F. W. Lancaster, visited the point that morning and, while standing in the packing house there, a Bohemian laborer, who was negotiating with a colored man for the purchase of a gun, allowed it to be accidentally discharged in his hands, the entire load of shot entering Mr. Richmond's head, causing immediate death. He leaves a widow and several children. He was well known in this city.

THE BELL ELLIS COMBINATION will commence a week's engagement at the Opera House Monday night. The Atlanta Constitution says of this company: "The Marionettes last night were greeted with a large audience, and each act was liberally applauded. The entire company have established themselves as favorites in Atlanta and the three more days they remain packed houses are sure to meet them."
